

Bring back red-hot bedroom magic with this deep-rooted Malaysian aphrodisiac

by Michele Cagan

Tired of a lackluster love life that revolves around timing and pills? Imagine a love life where you can enjoy yourself any time at all—no waiting for that little blue pill to kick in, no problems if the timing doesn't work out. Just pure, free fun, and explosive youthful desire whenever the mood strikes.

You can have that—and more—with a brand new, ancient Malaysian aphrodisiac.

Boost sexual desire and performance, and so much more

Tongkat ali (Eurycoma longifolia) has been used as an aphrodisiac in Malaysia for generations (so, clearly, it's working!). The enormous root of the small skinny tree offers the promise of an exciting and fulfilling sex life.

And growing up in Malaysia, intrepid rainforest explorer Annie Eng saw first hand just how popular—and potent—tongkat ali was.

So Annie joined forces with Malaysian researchers and scientists from MIT. That team developed a proprietary standardized extract of the highest quality tongkat ali (which is also called long jack), wild-whopping 73%.

In just three weeks, LJ100 helped those men bring excitement back to the bedroom, thanks to its ability to combat andropause by boosting free testosterone. But LJ100 doesn't stop there.

Testosterone isn't the only hormone in town

One of the reasons straight testosterone boosters don't always get the job done is that your body needs all of its hormones—along with some other critical compounds—to be in balance for optimal sexual health.

LJ100 acts on more than just testosterone. It also helps boost DHEA and progesterone² levels, among other things.

Healthy DHEA levels also go a long way toward optimal health. This androgen hormone (meaning both men and women produce it) seems to help protect against many types of cancer, including colon, liver, lung, breast, and prostate cancers. It also supports healthy blood sugar levels—even for harvested from the rainforest, and began studying the root in earnest. And their extract, known as LJ100, became the only source of research-based tongkat ali products for people.

And as part of their research, the team discovered several ways that LJ100 earned its well-deserved reputation. Most importantly, it slowly increases testosterone levels to youthful ranges to improve sexual desire and performance, among other things.

Sidestep andropause and get your libido back

As soon as you hit thirty years old, your testosterone levels start to drop, more and more every year. At the same time, your body starts producing a chemical called SHBG (sex hormone binding globulin) that traps testosterone so your body can't use it—you can only use free testosterone.

By the time age 55 rolls around, between declining testosterone production and increasing SHBG, your free testosterone takes a nosedive...and you may be struck with a condition called andropause.

When that happens, you could be diabetes patients.

And when it comes to sex, DHEA has got you covered. Healthy levels can ward off impotence, improve sexual performance, and increase sexual desire—for men and women.

Progesterone is a precursor to other hormones, including testosterone and cortisol, and it carries some pretty substantial health benefits, too:

- Protects against prostate cancer and enlarged prostate
- Prevents (and maybe even reverses) osteoporosis
- Prevents cardiovascular disease
- May stop hair loss in men, and prevent excess hair growth in women
- Supports healthy sleep patterns

And just like testosterone isn't the only hormone in play here, hormones themselves aren't all you need for a rip-roaring, wildly fulfilling sex life.

LJ100 boosts sexual desire and satisfaction—and not just for men

Though most of the human studies hit with a drastic drop in libido and sexual satisfaction, along with some other pretty unpleasant changes: weight gain, muscle loss, even hair loss.

But LJ100 can turn things around.

Boost your sex life by 91% in just three weeks

Researchers wanted to see just how well LJ100 acted on andropause...and they were not disappointed with the results.¹

Volunteers took 50 mg of LJ100 twice a day for three weeks—and the effects were very exciting.

- Sexual desire and successful intercourse increased for 62% of the participants, according to the Sexual Health Inventory Questionnaire.
- As for PADAM scores (Partial Androgen Deficiency Among Aging Men), 91% of the volunteers saw improvement in the quality of their sex lives.
- DHEA levels increased 47% (more on DHEA in a moment).
- SHBG levels dropped by 66%.
- Free testosterone soared by a

(continued on page 8)

involving LJ100 have focused on men, a lot of women use the product as well.

As you might expect, the recommended dosage for women is much lower. The manufacturer suggests that women take one 50 mg capsule per day.

As for men, for overall health maintenance, the recommended dosage is 100-200 mg per day, in the form of two to four capsules. To boost sexual performance, the suggested dose is 200-400 mg, preferably taken about one to two hours before engaging in vigorous activity. According to Annie Eng, older men may be better off taking 450 mg every two days to 'stimulate youthful desire.'

Annie also said that the LJ100 works best when taken on a five days on, two days off cycle, as part of an eight weeks on, two weeks off cycle.

You'll find ordering information for LJ100 in the Member Source Directory below. HSI